About The Association of Black Psychologists, Inc.

The Association of Black Psychologists (ABPsi) was founded in San Francisco in 1968 by a number of Black Psychologists from across the country. They united to actively address the serious problems facing Black Psychologists and the larger Black community. Guided by the principle of self determination, these psychologists set about building an institution through which they could address the long neglected needs of Black professionals. Their goal was to have a positive impact upon the mental health of the national Black community by means of planning, programs, services, training, and advocacy. Their objectives were:

- To organize their skills and abilities to influence necessary change, and
- To address themselves to significant social problems affecting the Black community and other segments of the population whose needs society has not fulfilled.

The Association of Black Psychologists has grown from a handful of concerned professionals into an independent, autonomous organization of over 1000 members.

2. Recruit & Retain Members

Each chapter is expected to host an annual membership drive to recruit new members from the local and surrounding areas. Chapter Presidents are also tasked with ensuring that all chapter participants are active

Local participants who do not pay national membership dues are not considered members of national organization, and are not eligible or national benefits.

Definition and Purpose of Chapter Bylaws

A chapter should have bylaws for chapter governance that do not conflict with the National Bylaws.

- A bylaw is a written guide or principle for governing action. It is a rule that establishes the usual way of doing something.
- A bylaw should be written so that its meaning is clear, it enables a function, process or operation of the chapter, it is timeless, and it fairly regulates chapter membership
- Bylaws are organized according to Articles. While the number of articles in the bylaws will be determined by the size and activities of the chapter, the general nature of the subjects covered should be indicated by the following standard list of articles:
  1. Name of the chapter
  2. Purpose of the chapter
  3. Membership Eligibility
  4. Dues (how are dues
  5. established and amended)
  6. Officers (elections process, officer duties, term, removal of officers)
  7. Executive Board
  8. Meetings (how meetings are scheduled)
  9. Committees
  10. Parliamentary Authority
  11. Amendment Procedure

Writing Chapter Bylaws that do not conflict with the National Bylaws

Step #1 – Determine the need to regulate a function, procedures or operation of a chapter; or define an entity of the chapter. Ask, “Is this a continuous function, procedure, or operation or a permanent entity?” If the answer is “No”, then the regulation will best be handled by establishing a Standing rule, which can be changed easily by majority vote as situations change, or seen as a specific Procedure, or Guideline established for the operation of a committee or one time activity of the Chapter. If the answer is “Yes”, move to step #2.

Step #2 – Determine whether or not the function, procedures or operation or entity is a National process/entity, has dual elements, or is strictly germane to the local chapter.

Search the National Bylaws to determine if the function, procedure or operation or entity is nationally regulated. If so, you may print the regulation verbatim in the local chapter bylaws, or simply make reference to the national regulation (where it is found) in the local Chapter Bylaws.

If it has dual elements, the bylaw may be written within the parameters authorized by the national regulation, but specific to the chapter (Ex. “Y” chapter shall observe annually...).

Steps #3 – If you need assistance with writing chapter bylaws, please contact the National Rules Chair. A final, approved copy should be sent to your Regional Representative and the National Office.

Once bylaws are adopted by a chapter it is considered the highest authority to based judgment for decisions, with the exception of the national authority, represented by the National Rules Chair (see board list at www.abpsi.org) and/or your Regional Representative.

Taxes and Finance

Tax Status: ABPsi is exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Its subordinate affiliate chapters are not permitted to use the national Federal tax exemption number because we do not have group tax exemption status (at this time). However, affiliate chapters are encouraged to apply for 501c3 status at the state level in order to establish their own tax exemption status.

An annual tax filing of a Form 990 to the IRS is required of each chapter. Chapters are also required to secure a taxpayer/Employer Identification Number (EIN) from the IRS. See enclosed memo from ABPsi legal counsel. The chapter Treasurer must submit a copy of the annual filed 990 tax form to the National Office by December 31st.

Accounting: The importance of following strict accounting procedures at the chapter and national levels cannot be over-emphasized. Since ABPsi is a non-profit organization, it is highly possible that each chapter, as well as National ABPsi, or a combination of both, may be audited by the Internal Revenue Service, and required to substantiate receipts and expenses. As the action of any subordinate chapter could therefore jeopardize the entire tax status of National ABPsi, it is crucial that chapters maintain integrity and fiduciary diligence with respect to financial management.

Solicitations and Donations:

Active chapters of ABPsi may solicit and receive contributions from donors. All correspondence must bear the full name of the chapter (e.g. The New Jersey chapter of The Association of Black Psychologists).

Lobbying or Legislative Activities: ABPsi National and chapters are forbidden from any participation, directly or indirectly, on behalf of or against any political candidate. This includes not only the normal state and federal offices, but also any locally elected officials. There are no exceptions. Extreme caution must also be taken when using social media as a representative of the organization.

Legislative activities do not include efforts to change rules or regulations and, accordingly, ABPsi and its chapters may participate heavily in the agency processes. In any instance where a chapter has a question regarding the legislative activity, it is suggested that the National Office be contacted for clarification.

MEMORANDUM

September 27, 2010

To: Dr. Benson Cooke

President, Association of Black Psychologists, Inc

From: Derrick A. Humphries, Legal Counsel, and Association of Black Psychologists, Inc.

(1) Filing IRS Form 990N (e-Postcard), IRS Form 990 EZ or IRS Form 990

The question has been asked whether or not the IRS report requirements for non-profit organizations apply to the Association of Black Psychologists Chapters. In response we have consulted with competent accountants and prepared this short memorandum to introduce you to the general IRS guideline. This is for your reference only. Specific recommendations will depend on the specific facts and circumstances of each Chapter.

All Chapters must file one of the following annual IRS information report forms:

1. IRS Form 990N (e-Postcard); (2) IRS Form 990EZ: or (3) IRS Form 990

Association of Black Psychologists Chapters whose annual gross receipts are normally $25,000 or less are required to electronically submit Form 990-N, also known as the e-Postcard, unless they choose to file a complete Form 990 or Form 990-EZ.

The e-Postcard is easy to complete. Go to <http://epostcard.form990.org/>. Enter your Chapter's:

- Employer identification number (EIN), also known as a Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN))
  - Tax year; legal name and mailing address; Any other names the Chapter uses
  - Name and address of a principal officer; Web site address if the Chapter has one
  - Confirmation that the Chapter's annual gross receipts are normally $25,000 or less
2. File IRS Form 990-EZ: Gross receipts totaling less than $1M and total assets less than $2.5M.
  3. File IRS Form 990: Gross receipts totaling $1M or greater and total assets are $2.5M or greater.

Financial Planning and Fundraising

One of the biggest concerns among chapter leaders each year is the fiscal responsibilities of operating an ABPSI chapter. The goal of this section is to provide direction and ideas as to how a chapter can finance its activities. There are two integral parts: The first is forecasting and meeting a budget to ensure the fiscal welfare of the chapter for years to come. The second part is creative fundraising to raise the monies for the chapter to operate effectively.

Budgetary Planning

The officers should meet to establish a working budget for the calendar year. Chapters need to design their budgets carefully and conservatively. This takes organization and research. To plan a budget, you need to have as much information as possible concerning the upcoming year's anticipated income and expenses. You will find that your best source for this kind of information is the budgets from previous years and the experience of your Regional Representative.

Income sources to consider in your chapter budget:

- ❖ Chapter Dues
- ❖ Fund-raising activities
- ❖ Student government allotment (student chapters)
- ❖ Contributions/Donations
- ❖ Account interest or other dividends

Expenses to consider in your chapter budget:

- ❖ Annual chapter charter renewal dues
- ❖ Administrative costs (postage, printing)
- ❖ National conference (lodging, transportation, registration, meals)
- ❖ Meetings (advertisements, refreshments)
- ❖ Campus awareness publicity (posters/flyers, website, advertisements)
- ❖ Chapter activities
- ❖ Decrease in membership/membership dues

Always be conservative in budget projections. A good rule of thumb is to always overestimate expenses and underestimate revenues. Also, include a contingency fund of 5%. The goal here is not to spend up to budget, but to retain earnings for the future growth and activities of the chapter.

Finally, the Treasurer should prepare and submit to the chapter members a year-end financial report, which should serve as the point of reference for the upcoming year's budget.

Fundraising

Fundraising is one of the most important activities a chapter can undertake. It requires organization, creativity, work, and, above all, persistence. As your chapter becomes more active, it may be necessary for you to do some type of fundraising to supplement the monetary support from membership dues.

Student Chapters...Before you attempt any fundraising, you must research the opportunities and limitations present at your university. Because some universities limit the types of fundraising a student group can undertake, you must know all university regulations prior to beginning.

Student chapters may also be able to find some funding within your university. For example, student government funding is often available for events or travel. Alumni development offices, hospitality departments, student affairs and academic affairs are other areas from which your chapter may gain some type of support. In-kind donations of materials or services (paper, printing, food, etc.) are also quite helpful and often just as good as monetary support.

For our purposes, we will divide fundraising into two categories: small-scale and large-scale.

Small-scale Fundraising

Small-scale fundraisers are the type of activities chapters can do with relative ease and little in the way of materials. These types of activities can be done several times a year.

Small-scale fundraisers are not likely to generate a great deal of money. However, they do not require a great deal of work and are a good option for chapters that want “just a little extra money.” In addition to raising money, these activities can provide increased exposure for your chapter when you want it the most. Even though these activities are small scale, advanced planning is still necessary in order to maximize success.

Examples of small-scale fund-raising events:

- ❖ Marathons (with pledges)
- ❖ Walk-a-thons
- ❖ Work a sporting event as a team
- ❖ Car washes
- ❖ Raffles
- ❖ Program-related sales
- ❖ T-shirts
- ❖ Books
- ❖ Novelty items
- ❖ Anything people might buy

These small-scale events take a little more organization and planning, but can be profitable:

- ❖ Dances
- ❖ Poetry readings
- ❖ Community based activities with an admission fee

Remember, the best ideas are the ones that your own chapter develops. Creative fundraisers are always the most fun.

Large-scale Fundraising

Large-scale fundraising takes a great deal of research, preparation, and organization on the part of a chapter. Yet, this work can be very rewarding. Large-scale fundraising is often more difficult to obtain and more likely to be regulated by your university. Thus your chapter must consult with the student activities office before beginning.

Examples of large-scale fundraising activities:

- ❖ Corporate sponsorships
- ❖ Donations
- ❖ Seminars and trainings
- ❖ Destination travel excursions
- ❖ Auctions

Commercial and corporate sponsorships/Donations:

Corporations and large local businesses may be willing to provide funding and/or in-kind support to ABPsi chapters. The process of obtaining such support can be long and involved, especially with corporations. However, once obtained, it is a way a chapter can secure ongoing support. Before sending any requests for donations, contact the ABPsi Executive Director to confirm if the company is already supporting the organization at the national level.

You will find that businesses are going to be far more willing to give when:

- ❖ Funding is requested for a specific program.
- ❖ The program is related in some way to the line of business in which the company is involved.

The company is likely to get something in return such as recognition, contact with members, or publicity.
